| The 24/2015 Catalan housing and energy poverty Law. A law written by the people. A model for other regions? | |
| Organizer | PAH (Platform for People Affected by Mortgages), in collaboration with Observatori DESC and Alianza contra la pobreza energética |
| Description | In July 2015, the Catalan Parliament unanimously adopted a Law (Law 24/2015) containing urgent measures to face the housing and energy poverty emergency that has swept Catalonia since the post-2008 housing-financial crisis. The Law came to light thanks to a Popular Legislative Initiative driven by an NGO (Observatori DESC) and two social movements - the Platform for Mortgage Affected People (PAH) and the Alliance against Energy Poverty (APE). The objectives of this session are: to explain the process behind the Popular Legislative Initiative (origins, creation and promotion), the outcomes and implications of the implementation of the Law, the results achieved to date and the shortfalls of the Law. We also aim to extrapolate the findings to other countries, and to learn about other experiences, to consider how this process could be repeated in other contexts. |

| The Modern Tramway Boosting public policies in the environment and air quality | |
| Organizer | Association for the Promotion of Public Transport (PTP) |
| Description | Since 2010, 60 european cities have created or enlarged their tram networks. Emissions caused by motorized transport not only affect human health, but also have important consequences for global processes such as climate change. If current trends continue, by the year 2050, the transport sector will be the most important contributor to climate change, and thus a shift away from current mobility strategies to more sustainable ones is doubly important. As such, we |

| Criminalization of Poverty in Public Spaces | |
| Organizer | Caritas Internationalis and Caritas Española |
| Description | The public space is the center of the exercise of public freedoms and sharing life for citizens. It is the city, the Habitat, the common house in all its glory; in throughout its development. Individuals, families, civil society, people must be participants and protagonists. Especially people in situations of social exclusion, instead of being welcomed in that public space in many cities and towns are invisibilized and even criminalized with severe sanctions by public administrations. We organized this Side-Event to reflect and make proposals about this reality that exists today (and was denounced for the United Nations Rapporteur for Adequate Housing few weeks ago in Geneva) in many countries. Because the Right to Habitat is the right to enjoy, to be and to live in the Public Space and is a Right of all people: We should work to get it. |
